Brookside Event Center available for rent

The Brookside Event Center is operational once again and now available for Hurst residents to book their events!

After evaluating the future use of this city facility over the last few years and considering the needs of our residents, Brookside will now serve as a community center available for rent exclusively to Hurst residents. The event venue accommodates up to 200 guests, has a fully-equipped kitchen available, a beautiful patio, and ample parking. The City provides the event space, and the renters handle the event’s setup, teardown, and cleanup.

Proceeds from this venue will be used for renovations, some of which will take place as soon as this summer! We’re excited to offer this venue to our community and provide an excellent option for hosting a variety of events.

Visit hursttx.gov/brookside for more information.

RECYCLING TIPS

The City of Hurst is encouraging residents to take a moment to reflect on the small, everyday actions that make a big difference, like recycling the right way. Recycling helps reduce the amount of waste sent to landfills, but only when it's done correctly. Contaminated or improperly sorted items can cause problems at recycling facilities and reduce the effectiveness of our community's efforts.

We're asking our community to follow these recycling best practices and share them with neighbors, friends, and family. Together, we can protect our planet and keep Hurst a great place to live.

Here's how you can recycle smarter:

1. Clean Items Before Recycling

- Rinse containers: Be sure to rinse bottles, cans, and jars. Food residue and liquids can contaminate other recyclables.
- Remove labels if possible: This can help improve sorting and processing at facilities.
- Flatten cardboard boxes to save space and reduce the volume of waste.

2. Avoid Contamination

- No food waste: Even recyclable containers should be free of scraps.
- No hazardous materials: Batteries, electronics, and chemicals require special disposal. Visit hursttx.gov/calendar to find Hazardous Waste Collection Days.

3. Follow Local Recycling Guidelines

The City of Hurst accepts the following items in its curbside recycling program:

- Office paper
- Newsprint

- Magazines
- Aluminum beverage cans
- Steel/tin cans
- Plastic bottles #1, #2, #3, #4, #5, #7
- Junk mail, envelopes, cereal boxes, cardboard, chipboard, phone books
- Colored glass
- Cartons

4. Keep Recyclables Loose

- Do not bag your recyclables: Plastic bags can clog machinery and cause issues at sorting facilities. Place recyclables loosely in your bin.

Let's commit to recycling better and wasting less. Every small action adds up to a cleaner, healthier environment for us to enjoy.

Have questions about recycling in Hurst? Visit hursttx.gov/trash or give us a call at 817-788-7000. We're here to help!

Hurst 101 Citizen Academy 2025 graduates

Hurst 101 Graduates

Congratulations to our 2025 Hurst 101 graduates! This group went through a 9-week program this spring and had the opportunity to learn about various city departments, engage with councilmembers, and take a tour of city facilities. Graduates were recognized during the May 13 city council meeting. We appreciate their dedication and enthusiasm for learning how Hurst operates from the inside out!

Interested in joining next year's program? We will be accepting applications later this year!

PALS and Sports Camp offer summer recreation

Each summer, the Hurst Police Department hosts two free summer camps. These camps are available for Hurst students going into 5th and 6th grade in the fall. With the help of local businesses, schools, and other departments in the city, each camp provides activities and lunch for all attendees. The idea of these camps is to have officers and youth interact in a fun, casual environment to promote positive police experiences. Each camp is staffed by both sworn and civilian employees from throughout the police department, and we host approximately 40 students.

During the Police Activities League Summer (PALS) Camp, which is hosted in June, we play water balloon games, visit the Hurst Public Library and Aquatics Center, kickball, relay races, and more. Last summer, the Hurst Public Library brought out Creature Teacher, who taught us about different animals and even had some that everyone could visit with. Hurst Parks and Recreation hosted one of the field days and brought out water balloon launchers, played slip and slide kickball, and lots of other team games. The Hurst Aquatics Center hosted our swimming day and also taught a brief CPR class.

During the Sports Camp, which is hosted in July, we start with soccer in the morning, and after lunch, we play basketball. Even if they have never played before, we make sure each student has fun and is able to participate at their skill level. We'll start with the basics and build up to gameplay throughout the week. Our focus is teambuilding and fun!

Registration for both camps is now open! For questions, please contact Bobbi Parker with the Hurst Police Department Community Services Division at 817-788-7342 or email bparker@hursttx.gov.

Visit hursttx.gov/palscamp or hursttx.gov/sportscamp to register.

A lemonade stand set up in Belaire Shopping Center offers a selection of lemonade, color-changing magic lemonade, and cookies as part of Lemonade Day in Hurst.

Students learn business basics at Lemonade Day

On May 10, students across Hurst put their business skills to the test during the City's second annual Lemonade Day. The event gives young participants the chance to plan, launch, and run their own lemonade stands, offering a real-world introduction to entrepreneurship.

This year, 21 stands were set up throughout the community, with students managing everything from recipes and pricing to marketing and customer service. Through the experience, they learned key business concepts like budgeting, goal setting, and customer service.

In addition to turning a profit, participants were encouraged to follow the program's financial model: spend some, save some, and share some. Participants donated a percentage of their earnings to local charities, reinforcing the value of giving back to the community.

Lemonade Day continues to be a practical and meaningful way for students to gain business experience and develop life skills. Support from local families, schools, and organizations, helps make this a success each year.

NEW WATER TOWER

750,000-gallon tower supports development, growth in Hurst

The new 750,000-gallon water tower on Mary Drive was constructed to enhance operational flexibility, maintain regulatory compliance, provide redundancy, and increase elevated water storage capacity in the City of Hurst's South Pressure Plane. Before the construction of this new water tower, there was only one other similar water tower in the City's South Pressure Plane, providing water to the entire southern half of the City.

If one tank needs to be drained for maintenance or experiences a failure, the other tank can be kept in operation with no disruption of service to the southern half of the City. The new tank will support future growth and redevelopment, as well as ensure the current population is served properly according to Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) regulations.

The new tank is a composite elevated storage tank, referred to as such because it combines a concrete pedestal with a steel bowl into a single structure. The advantages of composite elevated storage tanks include shorter construction times, reduced maintenance of the paint coating system, improved welding, a longer lifespan, and a smaller construction footprint for the water storage volume it provides. With the construction of the tank past its halfway point, the contractor is on schedule, and the project has not had any significant delays.

The total construction cost was $6,331,000 and was funded mostly from capital reserves in the enterprise fund with the remaining coming from bond funds. This project is estimated to be completed by late March 2026.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT UPDATE

Hurst welcomes new energy and exciting business openings

Hurst is off to a strong start this year with a wave of new businesses opening their doors—and even more on the way. From local legends to national brands, the City’s commercial landscape is growing more vibrant by the day.

The Picklr, a 12-court indoor pickleball facility, has transformed the massive space next to Abuelo’s at 844 Airport Freeway into a membership-based destination for recreation and social gatherings. With private party space available, it’s a new hotspot for both fitness and fun.

Nearby, Mama’s Pizza, a DFW favorite since 1968, is now serving up its iconic pies at the corner of Harwood and Precinct Line Road in front of Walmart—bringing its storied legacy to a new generation of fans in Hurst.

The long-vacant Jack in the Box at 444 W. Bedford Eules Road has found new life as Juicy’s Homestyle Fried Chicken, serving up soul food made fresh daily.

At 937 Melbourne Road, The Clove Café is winning hearts with its high-quality baked goods and inclusive menu that caters to various dietary needs.

Western wear enthusiasts can now shop at Boot Barn, which has filled the formerly empty space at 924 NE Loop 820, bringing more “Cowboy Culture” to Hurst.

Several exciting new developments are underway. In the same shopping center, Sky Zone is building one of its nationally recognized Trampoline Adventure Parks in the nearly 40,000-square-foot space once home to Conn’s.

Just north of Lowe’s on Precinct Line Road, construction is progressing on a new multi-tenant retail space. Jamba—formerly Jamba Juice—is the first to secure a spot in this high traffic area.

And at North East Mall, a major transformation is in motion. The former Nordstrom anchor space is undergoing renovations to make way for Primark, a popular European retailer entering the Texas market with five planned locations. With construction scheduled throughout much of the year, the goal is to open in time for the holiday season. As these larger anchor spaces are revitalized, they often serve as powerful catalysts for the mall corridors leading to that space. Already, North East Mall is showing strength with over 1.5 million visits recorded this year.

To support continued growth and investment, the City of Hurst has also launched a dedicated webpage featuring available commercial properties for sale or lease.

YOUTH IN GOVERNMENT

The 2025 HEB Youth in Government class celebrated their graduation in April! This year, 18 students went through the program and gained a better understanding of the impact local government has on the community while building relationships with each other, city staff, and officials.

Since January, participants have been meeting at various city facilities in Hurst, Eules, and Bedford twice a month, learning about police and fire services, voting and elections, potential career fields, and more! We are grateful for the partnership between the three cities and the HEB Chamber of Commerce to offer this opportunity to local high

Hurst Annual Survey Results

We recently completed our annual survey and reported the results to the City Council during their strategic planning retreat. Thank you to those who participated in the survey! Your input is valuable and helps contribute to our annual budget planning.

Survey respondents revealed that most Hurst residents are happy to be in Hurst with over 88% being satisfied with living or working in Hurst. Additionally, the survey included feedback on which City Council Strategic Priorities were most important to them. We learned that Public Safety and Infrastructure continue to be ranked the highest.

Hurst residents are very satisfied with Hurst as a place to live, and having a friendly sense of connection. Residents enjoy what Hurst offers with the wide variety of retail and service-oriented businesses that call Hurst home. And, of course, the wonderful mix of dining opportunities.

Residents revealed satisfaction with our Fire and Police services, our Library, and the Parks and Recreation opportunities. Essential services, like trash service and water/sewer, were also ranked high. Additionally, we learned that residents most enjoy receiving news and information about Hurst from the City's email communications (e-newsletter), the City website, and Where We Live magazine.

Concerns shared in the survey include the condition of streets, properties needing repair, and door-to-door salespeople. City Council and staff will use this feedback to keep Hurst a great place to live, work, and play by maintaining the level of satisfaction revealed and addressing the issues shared by our residents.

We asked for respondents' feedback on what they liked most about Hurst. These are some of the responses we received.

"It's a beautiful place and the location is great."

"The helpfulness and good customer service of the employees."

"Great place to live. Safe and friendly."

"It think it is a safe community to live in."

"Small town feel, convenient in the metro area."

Years of Service and Impact

Celebrating Our Volunteers

The City of Hurst recently celebrated an extraordinary milestone in civic service during the annual Volunteers in Action (VIA) Appreciation Brunch, held on Wednesday, April 23, at the Hurst Conference Center. This special event honored the dedication, impact, and selfless spirit of Hurst's volunteer community.

Over the past 46 years, volunteers have contributed more than 700,000 hours of service—an incredible achievement valued at over $11.9 million to the community.

Since its inception in 1979, the VIA program has empowered residents to give back to their city in meaningful ways. From the Hurst Public Library to the Police and Fire Departments, Senior Activities Center, Recreation Division, and Animal Services, volunteers contribute their time and talents to enhance city operations. Over the past 46 years, volunteers have contributed more than 700,000 hours of service—an incredible achievement valued at over $11.9 million to the community.

In addition to a delicious brunch, volunteers were celebrated with a special gift and recognized through service awards. A highlight of the morning was the presentation of the VIA Blue Jacket Awards, given to volunteers who reached the milestone of 200 hours of service. This year, 17 individuals received the signature blue jacket—a meaningful symbol of the time, effort, and heart they’ve invested in supporting the City of Hurst.

Also recognized were 24 additional volunteers for their total hours served and nine special project groups, each receiving a Certificate of Appreciation for their unique contributions to city initiatives.

To formally mark this week of celebration, Mayor Henry Wilson proclaimed April 20–26 as Volunteers in Action Week, aligning with National Volunteer Week. The proclamation recognized not just the hours given, but the community spirit each volunteer brings to the City of Hurst.

As we reflect on Volunteers in Action Week, one thing is clear: Hurst thrives because of the people who care. Thank you to all our volunteers for the time you give and the impact you make—one hour at a time.

HURST GIVES BACK

City of Hurst employees donate their time and abilities to serve a resident in need

In 1998, the City of Hurst initiated an annual day of service, known as Hurst Gives Back, as part of a revitalization effort to improve neighborhoods and assist qualifying residents with necessary home repairs. This effort has since inspired other local partnerships focused on giving back to the community in a similar way. We partner with 6 Stones, a local nonprofit, to expand our resources and planning efforts in connection with their Community Powered Revitalization (CPR) program.

On April 25, City of Hurst employees spent the day improving the home of a Hurst resident in need. The resident selected to receive help this year is an elderly woman who has a heart condition and is reliant on oxygen 24/7. She takes pride in her home, but she is unable to complete the necessary repairs. The work included painting, fence repair, cleanup, and yard maintenance. We also expanded the revitalization effort to other neighboring homes by offering curb address painting, hanging of American flags, potted plants, and litter cleanup.

Over 200 homes in Hurst have participated in this program since its inception! If you or someone you know needs assistance with home maintenance, you can apply at hursttx.gov/CPR.

Smart Lawn Care & Water Conservation

How to keep your grass green and guilt-free

Maintaining a healthy, lush lawn during hot, dry summers can be challenging—especially in regions with heavy clay soils and strict water use guidelines. But with a little planning and some smart habits, it’s possible to achieve a beautiful lawn without wasting water. Here’s how to strike the perfect balance between conservation and curb appeal.

Water Wisely, Grow Deep Roots

One of the most important steps in lawn care and water conservation is proper irrigation. A healthy lawn doesn’t need to be watered daily. In fact, watering deeply and infrequently—once or twice a week if needed—encourages grass to develop deep, drought-resistant roots. Avoid light, frequent watering, which leads to shallow root systems and makes grass more susceptible to heat and disease.

Spacing out your irrigation days also trains your lawn to rely less on artificial watering. You can even subscribe to weekly watering advice from SaveTarrantWater.com, which factors in local weather to determine if watering is necessary—keeping irrigation systems off for up to 25 weeks a year!

Time It Right

To reduce evaporation and water waste:

- Never water between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., when the sun is strongest.
- Use the “cycle and soak” method: run short irrigation cycles (6–8 minutes for spray heads, 12–14 minutes for rotors), then allow time between cycles for water to soak in.
- Watering by hand-held hose, drip irrigation, or soaker hose is allowed anytime.

Follow the city’s recommended watering schedule:

- No watering on Mondays
- Tuesdays & Fridays: Non-residential properties
- Wednesdays & Saturdays: Homes with addresses ending in 0, 2, 4, 6, 8
- Thursdays & Sundays: Homes with addresses ending in 1, 3, 5, 7, 9

For more resources, visit: hursttx.gov/waterconservation

Sprinkler Smarts

A misaligned or broken sprinkler can waste gallons of water and damage your lawn. Observe your sprinkler system in operation at least twice a year (once in spring, once in summer) to check for:

- Clogged or tilted heads
- Uneven coverage
- Leaks or low pressure

Don't forget to check the backup battery in your sprinkler controller annually. A power outage could reset it to default settings, disrupting your carefully planned watering schedule.

Healthy Lawn Habits That Save Water

Your grass will thrive, and require less water, when you adopt these smart practices:

DO:

- Cut grass high and let it lie. Taller grass shades the soil, reduces evaporation, and encourages deep roots. But remember, your lawn should not be more than 8 inches in height, according to Hurst's nuisance ordinance.
- Sharpen your mower blades. Dull blades tear grass, leaving it vulnerable to disease.
- Scout regularly for pests and diseases so problems don't spiral out of control.

- Use compost to enrich your soil. It boosts nutrients naturally and reduces reliance on synthetic fertilizers, which can pollute local waterways.

DON'T:

- Scalp your lawn. Keep grass at the proper height for its type (see chart below); shorter isn't better!
- Apply herbicides unless necessary. Try pulling weeds by hand, especially after watering, when the soil is soft.
- Fertilize warm-season grass in winter. "Winterizing" is unnecessary and can lead to overgrowth and water waste.
- Mow just because it's the weekend. Mow based on grass height, not your calendar.

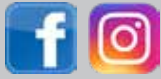

Bonus Tip: Mulch Matters

Apply mulch in flowerbeds and around trees and shrubs to retain moisture, reduce weeds, and stabilize soil temperatures. Just be sure not to pile it against plant stems or trunks.

By combining smart watering practices with good lawn care, you can create a landscape that's both beautiful and sustainable. Being water-wise not only saves money, it also protects the environment and ensures a thriving lawn, even through the hot Texas summers.

July is Park and Recreation Month

Each July, we celebrate park and recreation professionals and how they improve the lives of tens of millions of people, making a lasting impact in communities across the country. Park and recreation programs are essential to community health and well-being and help cultivate lifelong friendships, memories, and family bonds that people hold dear decades later.

Together, we're building and maintaining sustainable parks and green spaces for current and future generations. Together, we're building thriving communities focused on health and well-being. Together, we're building high-quality programs and spaces accessible and inclusive for all.

Together, we help people play and connect – through yoga, art classes, picnics, and more. This year's theme, "Build Together, Play Together," reminds us of the contributions of more than 160,000 full-time park and recreation professionals — along with hundreds of thousands of part-time and seasonal workers and volunteers — who maintain our country's close-to-home parks.
